WANTS HIGH COURT TO CLEAR BANK ACT

County Prosecutor Seeks Decision on Free Ohio Statute of 1851.

Columbus, O., March 25.—Part of the Ohio banking laws have been thrown into confusion by the decision of Judge Evan P. Middleton in the Greene county common pleas court, that the old free banking act, passed in 1851, had been, by implication, repealed when the general assembly passed the Thomas bank inspection law in 1905.

Tuesday Prosecutor Frank L. Johnson of Greene county, after consultation with the attorney general's department, filed in the supreme court a motion for leave to bring the decision to the supreme court for a review and a final decision.

Case Is Important.

If Judge Middleton's decision is sustained, it will substantially leave the large number of Ohio banks, organized under the old free banking law, outside the jurisdiction and control of the bank inspection department and will put these financial institutions almost outside all laws of Ohio.

Because of its importance the state will use its utmost endeavors to get the case advanced for hearing in the supreme court this spring, so, if the law has been repealed, the situation may be known and the work for the next general assembly made clear.

Judge Middleton rendered his decision in passing on a motion to quash indictments returned against bankers in Greene county whose institution failed some months ago and is being liquidated through the banking department. The bankers had been indicted under the provisions of the old free banking act. The court held that act had been repealed and the indictments were quashed.

Conflict of Court Decisions.

The decision brings out an unusual conflict of court decisions. A few years ago in a celebrated case from Norwalk the officials of a bank were indicted but later were freed because they were indicted under the provisions of the general code, the section having been lifted bodily from the free banking act and placed in the general code. The court held the provisions of the law applied only to banks organized under the provisions of the free banking act.

The free banking act, passed in 1851, authorized banks to issue currency and do many other things that would be unusual now. The law has been amended and changed, but substantially has been left on the statute books and many banks are organized under its provisions.

UNDER MARTIAL LAW

CITY WHERE STRIKE IS ON IS FILLED WITH STATE MILITIAMEN.

Depew, N. Y., March 25.—This city is under martial law and armed troops are guarding the Gould Copper works, the scene of strike riots Monday.

Early Tuesday a number of strikers were pierced by the bayonets of the militiamen when the rioters attempted to prevent the disembarkation of the troops.

A strike of street car men in Buffalo is threatened as a result of the suspension of 20 traction employees who refused to man cars taking the militiamen to the depot. One carman was knocked down by the rifle of a guardman when he refused to give up his controller.

FINDS MIND, LOSES WIFE

VICTIM OF APHASIA, THOUGHT DEAD, RETURNS HOME AND FINDS MATE GONE.

Washington, Pa., March 25.—Missing nearly a year ago and given up long ago as dead, Henry Horton, formerly in the plumbing business here, has just returned to his home and told a story of his experience while a victim of aphasia. While on a business trip to Pittsburgh Horton vanished completely.

He says that a few weeks ago he came to himself in a New York hospital, where he was informed he had been for many weeks in a critical condition. When able to travel he hurried home to discover his wife, believing he was dead, had sold her property and gone to New Hampshire.

Wealthy Farmer Is Dead.

Ravenna, O., March 25.—Randall Whitteley, 72, wealthy Atwater farmer and stockman, died on the farm where he was born and on which he spent all of his life. He introduced the culture of alfalfa in that section and was a brother of the late Senator Friend Whitteley.

Why He Was Agin It.

"Why don't you advertise?" asked the editor of the home paper. "Don't you believe in advertising?"

"I'm agin advertising," replied the proprietor of the Hayville Racket Store.

"But why are you against it?" asked the editor.

"It keeps a feller too darn busy," replied the proprietor. "I advertised in a newspaper one time about 10 years ago and I never even got time to go fishing."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

375,000 COAL MINERS CEASE WORK APRIL 1

NEGOTIATIONS BETWEEN OPERATORS AND BITUMINOUS WORKERS BROKEN OFF.

Conference Adjourns Sine Die After Failure to Make an Agreement Between Ohio Operators and Miners.

Chicago, March 25.—Beginning April 1, 375,000 coal miners in practically all bituminous coal states will cease work.

Negotiations between the operators and miners of the central competitive states—western Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois—which have been in progress here, were broken off Tuesday. The conference adjourned sine die on motion of President John P. White of the miners.

Failure to make an agreement between the Ohio operators and miners and the refusal of the miners to sign a contract in these states leaving Ohio out brought the disruption of the interstate trade agreement. If an agreement could have been reached by the Ohio operators and miners on a price for mine-run coal, "clause 3," the other obstacle to a settlement might have been adjusted. The clause prohibited miners from asking for any changes in working conditions that would add to the cost of mining. The miners wanted this clause eliminated, and the operators had said they would not make a fight to retain it. The miners had withdrawn their demand for increased pay.

About 350,000 bituminous coal miners will quit work March 31," said President White. "We could not make a four-state agreement with the operators, and we would not agree to a three-state contract. The policy committee will decide the future action of the miners. Practically all bituminous states will be involved in the suspension."

The policy committee will be asked to permit resumption of work where operators and miners in one state reach an agreement.

SAVES HIS WIFE'S LIFE

HUSBAND VOLUNTARILY GIVES CUTICLE TO WOMAN BURNED IN AN EXPLOSION.

Chester, Pa., March 25.—Realizing that a skin-grafting operation was the only means of saving the life of Mrs. Frank B. Cross, who was burned in an explosion of a boiler at her home several weeks ago, her husband volunteered to submit to the operation for his wife's sake.

When the physician found that one of Mrs. Cross' arms would not heal they estimated that it would require about five square inches of cuticle to cover the wound. The skin was removed from Mr. Cross' thigh. He is a patient at the same hospital where his wife is being treated, but the doctors say it will be but a short time before he will be discharged. In the meantime Mrs. Cross is recovering rapidly and will be entirely cured, the doctors say, thanks to the aid her husband gave her.

Poison Brings Reconciliation.

Cincinnati, March 25.—Declaring that she will feel that she is a murderer, Mrs. Mabel Lang Crawford, employee of a local motion picture theater, became reconciled to her husband, Walter Crawford, who is near death at the City hospital as the result of taking poison here.

Riots in Streets of Belfast.

AGAINST REPEAL OF FREE TOLLS CLAUSE

Telegrams and Resolutions of Protest Received by Senator O'Gorman.

Washington, March 25.—Senator O'Gorman received in the senate Tuesday telegrams and resolutions from commercial and civic bodies in various parts of the United States protesting against the repeal of the free tolls clause of the Panama canal act. The data was ordered published in the Congressional Record. Among these communications were the following:

From the New Orleans Association of Commerce, signed by M. B. Trezvant, general manager: "The New Orleans Association of Commerce, the largest commercial organization in the south, is strongly opposed to the repeal of the canal toll exemptions for American coastwise vessels. We believe we voice the sentiment of thinking people of the Gulf coast ports in this matter. New Orleans is deeply concerned in the rehabilitation of the American merchant marine. We feel that this unnecessary repeal, if put into effect, would deal a staggering blow to American aspirations for a return to maritime importance."

Favors Free Tolls.

From the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, signed by C. F. Michaels, president: "San Francisco Chamber of Commerce desires to express to you its high appreciation of your consistent stand in favor of free tolls through the Panama canal to American vessels engaged in coastwise commerce and to extend to you its hearty congratulations upon your very clear and convincing expressions in support of this measure."

Resolutions of the Sergt. Hamilton Fish camp, No. 46, United Spanish War Veterans, adopted at a meeting in New York March 20, were read stating that the organization was "utterly opposed to the surrender of any of the benefits to any of our citizens arising out of the construction, ownership and operation of the canal."

See Humiliation.

Resolutions adopted by citizens of Elizabeth, N. J., at a meeting held March 8: "To repeal the clause now at the dictation of England, who dictated the Clayton-Bulwer treaty, on the false ground that it is a breach of the Hay-Panamafe treaty, would be an unparalleled humiliation to this republic and dishonoring to President Wilson, whose acceptance of it before his election was clear and unequivocal."

Resolutions adopted by the United Irish societies of San Francisco were introduced by Senator Perkins of California.

The resolutions state that the tolls repeal would injure the Pacific coast more than any other section, and that the value of the Panama exposition at San Francisco would be seriously lessened by the imposition of tolls upon American vessels.

The gas water heater in the bathroom was burning brightly when the body was found and there was no pipe to carry off the poisonous fumes.

Akron, O., March 25.—While playing with a revolver James, three-year-old son of Patrick J. Hutchinson, ex-sheriff of Medina county, accidentally shot and killed his three-year-old sister, Irene. The bullet passed through the child's heart. She died in her father's arms.
